

NEW YORK ISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent. NEW YORK, April 23, 1870. Ned Bunline, perhaps, to those who attend temperance lectures as Colonel E. Z. C. Judson, is in the city, having just returned from California. He advises every one who wants to go to heaven and who can't get there, to repair to San Francisco instead. He thinks that comes nearer to Paradise than any other locality on the habitable globe. He is not looking quite as rosy as the mountain atmosphere and scenery which he describes would seem calculated to make one, but it must be remembered that he went thither to lecture, not merely to sniff in health and strength, and that he has been lecturing there for one hundred and thirty nights. There is an amusing contrast between the titles of Ned Bunline's books and the manners of the man. The former are wild and bloody in the extreme, a cross between those of Reynolds and George Lippard.

Selling Out. A rumor floats by me that Messrs. Caldwell & Whitney, proprietors of the Sunday Mercury of this city, intend to sell out, and are negotiating with that view. This is one of the many newspaper changes that are brewing. If I wished to invest money in journalism, I think I should choose the New York Sunday Mercury—in preference even to Mr. Meeser's brilliant specimen of hebdomadal literature. Its moral tone is so elevated and pure, its advertisements so unobjectionable, the personal characters of its proprietors so utterly beyond reproach, and the principle upon which its editorials are written so gentlemanly and conscientious. It is sad to see such a publication changing hands, and thereby imperiling its hold on the community.

The Spanish Ballet. which is to appear at the Grand Opera House, has arrived and been inspected by Mr. Fisk, who would make an excellent auctioneer in a Circassian slave market. The troupe numbers over fifty, but it is in an extremely demoralized condition from the effects of the sea voyage. I never yet knew a foreign artist who pronounced him or herself fit for anything within two or three days after a fortnight's voyage. Last night such of the members as were not totally incapacitated were distributed among the boxes and lobbies of the theatre, catching the spirit of an American audience, and accustoming themselves to the strange assemblage they were soon to face. There are nine principal cansueses and half a hundred corphees. Owing to that sea-voyage fatigue just referred to, none of them will appear until the middle of the next week.

Miss Virginia Townsend is better known in Philadelphia as a gazetteer than she is in New York. I observe, however, that she has added her name to the list of lecturers who make New York and Brooklyn their starting-points, and then commence a provincial career. Her subject is rather heavy, particularly for the approaching warm weather, being nothing less profound than "Catherine de Medici and her Times." Her debut occurs this evening at the Brockton Athenaeum.

Baron Von Bulow's Wives. A scandalous rumor ripples across from Elizabeth City, where Baron Von Bulow is confined, to the effect that he has wives scattered promiscuously over the Union. The latest one that looms up dates from Mississippi, where, it is intimated, he pursued a course similar to the one that has brought him to grief at Elizabeth.

Rampant Mr. Rushton. At the southwest corner of Barclay street and Broadway is an apothecary store known as Rushton's. Its proprietor is Mr. Frederick Rushton, who has occupied it all his life, and whose papa occupied it before him. The thirty-three years' lease expires on the first of May, and what Mr. Rushton's amazement to learn that the property had been leased, after that date, to Dr. Swan, a worthy young physician occupying rooms in the Astor House. Mr. Rushton's amazement deepened into rage, and soon he became rampant. He had some canvas painted, and upon it printed the dimensions of his present store and the exorbitant rent he was paying for it, compared with the much lower rent he would have to pay in the new locality he had chosen. He also printed the announcement that in consequence of this reduction in rent he hoped to be able to sell his goods forty per cent. cheaper than he had been in the habit of selling them. This canvas he fastened conspicuously above his store windows, in proximity to those of the hotel, whereupon one of the porters stuck a knife into one of the placards, was arrested therefor by the furious pharmacist, and lodged in Chambers Street Police Station. Mr. Rushton then proceeded to placard all the granite walls in his vicinity with brown paper proclamations acquainting the public with the secret history of the affair, and to tear down the ceiling of his store and pull up the pavements. In this riotous course, however, he was stopped by an agent of Mr. Astor's, who threatened to sue him for damages. The moral of the thing is that Rushton is loth to leave an old spot endeared to him by the recollections of a public which paid a high price for its purchases.

Miss Thompson is a New Part. Lydia is to appear very soon in a melodrama called Mosquito, which is said to have been written for her by Alexander Dumas pere. Miss Thompson's name is so associated with break-downs, fits, lights, and hair-torn, all of which go towards producing a successful burlesque, that it is doubtful where she can ever escape into a loftier and purer atmosphere.

A Horrible Tale. Here is a pleasant father for you, a Mr. Theodore A. Snyder, from whom his wife applies for a decree of divorce, on the ground that he was in the habit not only of getting drunk himself, but of making his family drunk, from the boy who had recently been put in pants to the infant in the cradle—an interesting instance of family intemperance, which it seems he was in the habit of repeating whenever it suited his inclination, and there was enough liquor on hand. Decision was reserved.

Incidentals. Fort Scott, Kansas, has a new paper entitled the Evening Footlight. Mr. English is to be inaugurated as Governor of Connecticut on the 4th of May, and it is promised that the military display shall be the finest ever seen in the State. Two enterprising citizens of Wilmington, Del., who recently erected two fine brick houses, have made the awkward and unpleasant discovery that they have made a mistake in the location and placed them upon another man's lots, adjoining theirs. The Savannah firemen are all on their heads, metaphorically speaking, and merely because General Lee has written a letter accepting an honorary membership in one of the companies. One of the local journals says:—"Such exultation on the part of individuals, such enthusiasm of firemen, when the news was announced to the company, only found vent in a terrific 'aye' for a handsome frame for the precious letter which will be hung in the meeting-room."

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

"Il Trovatore" by the Brignoli Troupe. The performance of Il Trovatore last evening attracted a large and fashionable audience. The popularity of the opera had something to do with this, but the announcement of the appearance of Madame Gazzaniga in the role of "Azucena" had much more. This great artist has a place in the regards of the musical public of this city such as has never been obtained by any other singer, and she was received with an enthusiasm last evening that is seldom manifested, and that must have been in the highest degree gratifying to the cause of it. Madame Gazzaniga remains the greatest actress on the lyric stage, and her personation of the gipsy "Azucena" last evening was a new revelation of the capabilities of the part to the oldest opera-goers present. All the great abilities that thrilled the audiences of Madame Gazzaniga years ago, when the Academy of Music was a new institution, shone forth on this occasion, and, although many fine singers have personated "Azucena" since then, no such interpretation of the role was ever given within the walls of the building. Madame Gazzaniga acted with a passionate earnestness and tragic power that elicited the heartiest applause, and she threw an intensity of expression into the music that raised it from the level of melodrama into the realms of high art.

Signor Brignoli is always fine in "Manrico," and last evening he seemed to sing with more than usual expression; and with Miss McCulloch, who gave a very meritorious performance as "Leonora," and Signor Petrilli, who made an acceptable "Count di Luna," the opera went off in a spirited manner and to the general satisfaction of the audience. This is announced as Madame Gazzaniga's farewell season, and one of our morning contemporaries makes the excellent suggestion that a grand farewell benefit shall be tendered her by her many admirers in this city. We cannot think of losing such an artist as Madame Gazzaniga without regret, and such a compliment as this would be a mutual occasion for congratulation by all parties concerned. We hope that Madame Gazzaniga will be invited to accept such a testimonial, and that she will consent to appear once more in her great role of "Violetta" in La Traviata.

The City Amusements. AT THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC Martha will be performed this afternoon. On Monday Lucrezia Borgia will be given, with Madame Gazzaniga in the leading role. AT THE CHERUB THE burlesque of The Field of the Cloth of Gold will be given for the last time this afternoon and evening. AT THE WALNUT Mr. and Mrs. Barney Williams will appear this afternoon and evening in The Emerald Ring. AT THE ARCH the comedy of The Wonder and the drama of The Willow Copse will be performed this evening. AT THE ELEVENTH STREET OPERA HOUSE a first-rate programme of Ethiopian comicities is announced for this evening. AT DUPRE & BENEDICT'S OPERA HOUSE an interesting and varied musical entertainment will be given this evening. THE PANORAMA OF "THE PILGRIM" will be exhibited this evening at Concert Hall. THE SEXTZ-HASSLER ORCHESTRA will give a matinee to-day at Musical Fund Hall.

KEYSTONE PURE WHEAT WHISKY, Distilled from the Grain BY T. J. MARTIN & CO., KEYSTONE DISTILLERY, NORTHWEST CORNER OF TWELFTH and WASHINGTON Sts.; STORE, No. 150 North FRONT Street, PHILADELPHIA, PA. To whom it may concern: All the leading medical authorities recognize the value of diffusive stimulants. Numerous eminent physicians and surgeons might be named who have advocated their employment in the treatment of a large class of disorders. No Dispensary is considered complete without them. They are prescribed in all public and private Hospitals, and administered by all bedside practitioners. But the difficulty has been to obtain Alcoholic Liquors Pure. The pungent aroma of the fuel oil and biting acids present in all of them can be scented as the glass is raised to the lips. The nauseous flavor of these acids and poisons is perceptible to the palate, and a burning sensation in the stomach attests their existence when the noxious draught has gone down. Paralysis, idiocy, insanity and death are the pernicious fruits of such potations. Medical science asks for a pure stimulant to use as a specific, which, while it diffuses itself through the system more rapidly than any other known agent, is brought into direct and active contact with the seat of disease. It is the property of the stimulant to diffuse, and by the aid of its peculiar nutritious component parts to invigorate, regulate, counteract and restore, and it is by the happy union of the principle of activity with the principles of invigoration and restoration that such a result is attained. To accomplish beneficial results. Having great experience in the distilling of Whiskies, and the largest and best equipped establishment of its kind in the country, supplied with the latest improvements in apparatus for cleansing Whisky of fuel oil and other impurities, and by strict personal supervision, the proprietors of Keystone Wheat Whisky Distilled from WHEAT, and, being made from the grain, possesses all its Nutritious Qualities, and can be relied upon to be strictly as represented, having been examined thoroughly by the leading analytical chemists of this city, whose certificates of its purity and fitness for medicinal purposes are appended. We invite examination, and any who would convince themselves we ask a rigid analysis. T. J. MARTIN & CO. N. B.—Notice that the caps and corks are branded with our name to prevent counterfeiting.
